URU, The Right To Be, Inc.
In collaboration with
Duke University School of Medicine
Invite You To:

A Screening of a Film by Producer/Director Crystal Emery Followed by Participatory Workshops

Hosted By:
North Carolina Medical Society
Durham Academy of Medicine, Dentistry and Pharmacy
Durham Committee on the Affairs of Black People
Durham Congregations In Action
Durham People’s Alliance
Old North State Medical Society

Saturday, March 20, 2010
9:30 am
Duke University School of Nursing
Peter and Ginny Nicholas Auditorium, Room 1014
307 Trent Drive Durham, NC 27710

RSVP by March 15 at http://www.urutherighttobe.org/register
Or call 919-599-4647

Please choose one of the following Workshops when you RSVP:

- Doctor/Patient Communication
- Empowering Community Organizations to Work with Legislators for Change
- What Racism Looks Like in Health Care Delivery and Why You Should Report It

Light lunch and Q&A to Follow Workshops

To preview a trailer of the film please visit our website: www.urutherighttobe.org

This project is funded in part by:
W.K. Kellogg Foundation
Pfizer Global Research & Development
Educational grant from sanofi-aventis

Revised 2/22/2010